To comply with The Public Contracts Regulation 2015 all awards of contracts that are subject to these regulations are subject to a mandatory 'standstill' period of at least 10 days between the initial award decision and final confirmation of award. A contract cannot be concluded with the preferred provider until at least the eleventh (11th) calendar day at the earliest following notification. This would not prevent continuing discussions with the preferred provider to ensure prompt mobilisation of the supplier's resources once a contract is concluded. The standstill period is expected to end at midnight at the end of [REDACTED]. If steps are taken during this period to suggest that there may be a formal legal challenge to this award during this period, or the Authority determine an issue or concern with procurement process or preferred provider submission then the contract award may be suspended until the matter is resolved or potentially not concluded if the issues cannot be resolved.

Subject to no legal challenge being received the Authority intends to execute the contracts at the conclusion of the standstill period. The Authority will contact you to arrange the formal completion of the contract when this has been done.

Yours sincerely,
